Zheng Lizhong (10)

Zheng Lizhong, the number four deputy director of the Taiwan Affairs Office [TAO] of the State Council, was recently promoted to the executive deputy director post as a replacement of the officially retired Li Bingcai, who remains as executive vice-chairman of the Association for

Relations Across the Taiwan Strait [ARATS]. This was one of the routine personnel changes recently made by the Taiwan Affairs Office due to several senior officials' hitting retirement age. Nobody has yet been promoted to the office from other departments, an insider emphasized. Just one day after the 16 July announcement of his appointment, Zheng made his debut in a cross-strait encounter as an executive deputy director by accompanying TAO Director Chen Yunlin to a meeting with Taiwan's Council for Industrial and Commercial Development. An alternate member of the CCP CC, Zheng was the secretary of the Xiamen CCP Committee before his transfer to Beijing last May. A native of Xiapu County, Fujian, the 55-year-old master's degree holder in economics has served his home province over a long period of time, particularly in heading in recent years the two critical strait-front cities of, in chronological order, Zhangzhou and Xiamen. Zheng knows the island well through receptions of an infinite number of visitors from there. Fan Liqing becomes TAO deputy information secretary As Xiamen CCP secretary, Zheng received favourable comments from most visiting Taiwanese merchants for his efforts in initiating a symposium for their representatives, and in providing the opportunity for the community to have problems solved in a timely manner. Zheng was also praised by Taiwanese businessmen for making himself available - no matter how busy he was - as well as for making available his associate officials responsible for dealing with issues of interest to Taiwanese. Wang Zaixi will follow Li Bingcai as another TAO deputy director retiring from office this month. Successors have also been decided for retiring TAO officials Director Chen Yunlin, Deputy Director Wang Fuqing and Director Assistant Zhang Mingqing. Additionally, Fan Liqing, former Hong Kong and Taiwan desk editor of Xinhua, has begun her work as the Office's deputy information secretary. (Wen Wei Po website, Hong Kong, 20 Jul 06, in BBC PF, 3 Aug 06)

Zhang Jianguo (11)

The board of China Construction Bank (CCB), one of the Big Four banks in China, appointed Zhang

Jianguo as the bank's new chief, CCB announced on 27 July. The appointment still needs the approval from the China Banking Regulatory Commission to be effective, according to rules. Hu Changmiao, spokesman for CCB, said the decision was made in a board meeting held on 27 July, and CCB will hold the stockholders' meeting at a proper time and send Zhang's profiles to all stockholders. Hu said the board also decided to choose Zhang as deputy director of the CCB board and the executive director of the board. Zhang, 51, has been acting as the head of China's Bank of Communications since May, 2004. He submitted his resignation to the bank on 25 July after the CCB announced that its board had accepted resignation of former CCB president Chang Zhenming. The board of CCB considered Zhang as the best choice as he has long been working with commercial banks and has rich experience of administration, according to source close to CCB. Under Zhang's leadership, the Bank of Communications invited the Hong Kong and Shanghai Banking Corporation Limited (HSBC) to hold a 19.9-per cent stake. It also listed on the Mainland Board of the Hong Kong Stock Exchange in June 2005 and became the first overseas listed commercial bank on the Chinese mainland. Taking the appointment on 27 July, Zhang said he was confident to make CCB one of the world's top commercial banks, with efforts of CCB's over 300,000 employees. The annual report of the Bank of Communications showed that net profits of the bank in 2005 increased by 7.64b RMBY (953m US$), or 476.62 per cent over the same period of 2004. The CCB took the lead among China's Big Four state banks to go public in Hong Kong last October, when its shares met a strong trading debut, as investors were eager to buy into China's robust economy. China must overhaul its debt-laden domestic banks ahead of the full opening of its financial market to foreign competition by the end of this year, observers have said, and public listing is expected to help the banks improve management. CCB's core capital reached 287.7b RMBY (36b US$) by the end of 2005, with its capital adequacy ratio, a measure of its own capital in proportion to its outstanding lending, also rising to 13.57 per cent. By the end of last year, the bank's non-performing loan (NPL) ratio stood at 3.84 per cent, the lowest among the Big Four banks, also including The Industrial and Commercial Bank of China Corporation (ICBC), Bank of China (BOC) and Agricultural Bank of China (ABC). (XNA, 27 Jul 06)

Leaders Removed from Office

Chang Zhenming

The board of the China Construction Bank has accepted the resignation of its president, Chang Zhenming, the bank said in a statement on 24 July. A spokesman for the bank, Hu Changmiao, said Chang's departure is to "meet the demand of the nation's financial reform and development", while expressing "deep regret and reluctance" over his application. Chang will work for the CITIC Group, a consortium including a national shareholding bank and a securities broker, the spokesman said ... The bank's board meeting spoke highly of the efforts and contributions made by Chang in pushing forward the CCB's reform and development. ... (XNA, 24 Jul 06)

Li Bingcai

Resigned from his post as executive deputy director of the State Council's Taiwan Affairs Office (TAO). He still serves in the Association for Relations Across the Taiwan Straits (ARATS) as executive vice-president. (DGB website, 18 Jul 06, in BBC PF, 20 Jul 06)

Committee on 29 June 2006. (XNA, 20 Jul 06)

Su Rong

The 23rd session of the 10th Gansu PPC on 28 July accepted his resignation as chairman of the Standing Committee of Gansu Provincial People's Congress. He also no longer serves as secretary of the CCP Gansu Provincial Committee. Su Rong will be transferred to another post. He is a member of the 16th CCP CC. (http://news.xinhuanet.com/politics/2006-07/29/contentn_4891100.htm, accessed 31 Jul 06)

Wang Zhenxi

Political Commissar of Shaanxi Military District.

Zhang Mao

The 29th session of the 12th Beijing MPC Standing Committee on 28 July accepted his resignation as vice-mayor of Beijing Municipality. (http://news.xinhuanet.com/politics/2006-07/28/contentn_4889232.htm, accessed 28 Jul 06) He was appointed vice-chairperson of the State Development and Reform Commission in June. Zhang, born in February 1954, is a native of Juye, Shandong Province. He joined the CCP in September 1973. Zhang got a Master's degree in Law. He formerly served as vice-chairperson of the Beijing Municipal Foreign Economic and Trade Commission, head of Haidian District, and assistant mayor of Beijing.

North Korea (Jul 21)

China and the Democratic People's Republic of Korea (DPRK) signed an agreement to facilitate transportation and environmental protection of a border river. According to the agreement inked in Changchun, capital of northern China's Jilin Province which neighbours DPRK, the two sides will cooperate on the management of navigation buoys and dredge part of the Yalu River. During a nine-day meeting, traffic officials from the two sides also discussed measures to prevent environmental damage caused by the dredging works. The two sides also agreed to tighten management of cargo ships on the river, according to sources attending the meeting. (XNA, 24 Jul 06)

Nepal (Jul 27)

China has decided to provide an additional 900m rupees as economic and technical assistance to Nepal. Documents to that effect were signed between Finance Secretary Bhoj Raj Ghimire on behalf of the Nepalese government and Chinese Vice Foreign Minister Wu Dawei on behalf of the Chinese government. China has made available 1.8bn rupees, about 50 per cent more assistance for this year compared with that of last year. The amount will be spent on the economic and technical projects, according to the Foreign Ministry. ... (Radio Nepal, Kathmandu, 27 Jul 06, in BBC PF, 28 Jul 06)

Foreign Minister Li Zhaoxing and Chad counterpart Ahmad Alam-mi signed a communique restoring ties on Sunday. Taiwan, which has had diplomatic ties with Chad since 1997, severed links earlier the same day. Taiwanese officials said the Chad government's decision was prompted by Chinese promises to cut aid to rebel forces opposing it. China sees Taiwan as part of its territory and insists that countries with whom it has diplomatic links do not recognise Taiwan. The decision leaves Taiwan with only 24 diplomatic allies, mostly small states in the Pacific, Latin America and Africa. Seven countries have changed allegiance since President Chen Shui-bian assumed office in May 2000.

Hong Kong SAR Agreement with Mainland China (Jul 14)

After nearly four years of discussions, the Chinese mainland and Hong Kong Special Administrative Region signed an agreement in Hong Kong to make civil and commercial judgments delivered in each others' courts enforceable on both places. The long-awaited pact provides a new and convenient mechanism that a judgment creditor will no longer need to spend a large amount of time and money to bring a legal action again in the place where the property of the debtor is situated. On behalf of the central government and HK-

SAR government, the Grand Justice Huang Songyou, Vice-President of the Supreme People's Court, and Secretary for Justice Wong Yan-lung signed the agreement, entitled "The Arrangement on Reciprocal Recognition and Enforcement of Judgments in Civil and Commercial Matters by the Court of the Mainland and of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region Pursuant to Choice of Court Agreements between Parties Concerned". It is another mutual legal assistance agreement reached between the two places in line with the Basic Law, following the signing of the Arrangement for Mutual Service of Judicial Documents in Civil and Commercial Proceedings and the Arrangement Concerning Mutual Enforcement of Arbitral Awards in 1999. Calling the signing of the arrangement a landmark symbolizing the on-going progress of legal assistance between the Chinese mainland and the HKSAR, Huang said it marks a big step forward towards a closer relationship of legal assistance between the two places. "It is another good example of successful cooperation between the two places following the signing of the 1999 arrangement," Huang said, adding the scope of mutual legal assistance is extending from the service of judicial documents in civil and commercial proceedings and enforcement of arbitral awards to wider areas at higher level. Huang said the arrangement will have a positive effect on the successful implementation of "One Country, Two Systems" and protect the lawful interests of the parties concerned. Secretary for Justice Wong Yan-lung believed the new mechanism would provide convenience for and enhance the confidence of people who are involved in business dealings in the two places, thus making the business environment of the two places more attractive. "At the same time, the new arrangement can also strengthen Hong Kong's position as a regional centre for dispute resolution," Wong said. Since the first meeting on 25 July, 2002, a number of proposals have been raised and discussed thoroughly by both sides. Altogether seven consultation meetings have been held and the text has been amended 26 times before the two sides finally settled the text. The agreement is applicable only to money judgments on disputes arising from commercial contracts where the parties involved have made an agreement in writing in which a mainland court or a HKSAR court is expressly designated as the court to have sole jurisdiction for resolving the dispute concerned. Both sides have agreed on a list of 469 mainland courts whose judgments in commercial cases may be enforceable in Hong Kong, including the Supreme People's Court, 32 higher people's courts, 389 intermediate courts and 47 basic-level courts. Relevant legislative procedures must be passed through in Hong Kong before the Arrangement could be implemented, while in the Chinese mainland, the Supreme People's Court will also have to issue new guidelines and interpretations for its implementation. (XNA, 14 Jul 06)

PRC Laws and Regulations

Liu Jen-Kai

Management Regulations on Explosives for Civil Use, adopted at the State Council's 134th executive meeting on 26 April 2006. The regulations will become effective as of 1 September 2006. (Decree No. 466 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 10 May 2006) The regulations consist of eight chapters with 55 articles. (Full text: RMRB, 4 Jul 06)

The Decision on Amending the "Management Regulations on Supervising the Quality of Cotton" will come into force on the day of promulgation. (Decree No. 470 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 4 July 2006) (Full text of the decision: RMRB, 17 Jul 06)

Management Regulations on Supervising the Quality of Cotton (State Council Promulgation No 314, 3 August 2001, revised according to the Decision on Amending the "Management Regulations on Supervising the Quality of Cotton" on 4 July 2006. The regulations consist of five chapters with 39 articles. (Full text of the regulations: RMRB, 17 Jul 06)

Management Regulations on Yellow River Water Resources, adopted at the State Council's 142nd executive meeting on 5 July 2006. The regulations will become effective as of 1 August 2006. (Decree No. 472 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 24 July 2006) The regulations consist of seven chapters with 43 articles. (Full text: RMRB, 29 Jul 06)

The Chinese government has set out strict new procedures for the use and international transport of human corpses and body parts to be effective as of 1 August. A new regulation bans the trade of corpses and commercial activities involving corpses. No organization or individual is allowed to accept body donations except medical institutes, medical schools, medical research institutes and forensic research institutes. Those in receipt of bodies should arrange interment after use. The transport of bodies into and from China for interment must be approved by civil affairs departments, customs and inspection and quarantine authorities. The exit and entry of bodies for medical and scientific purposes must be approved in accordance with the Regulation on Human Hereditary Resources issued by the State Council and the Quarantine Regulation of Special Medical Items issued by the Ministry of Health and the State Quality and Quarantine Administration. No other reasons for international transport will be approved, says the regulation. The regulation defines "corpses" as human bodies, body parts such as organs and bones, and specimens of bodies or body parts. This regulation is another indication of the government's tightened control of the country's organ transplant industry, after its first regulation on human organ transplants took effect on 1 July, explicitly banning the sale of organs and tightening approval standards for transplants. It is estimated that 2 million Chinese need transplants each year, but only 20,000 operations are conducted because of a shortage of organs. This has resulted in an illegal organ trade in some regions. Meanwhile, poor management of organ sources, sharing, registration and monitoring of transplant patients had raised concerns in the international community, Vice-Minister of Health Huang Jiefu said in May. Foreign media have reported that organs are taken from executed criminals, but the Ministry of Health denied this in April, saying most organs in China had been voluntarily donated by ordinary citizens on their deaths, and a small number from executed criminals who voluntarily signed donation approvals. (XNA, 14 Jul 06)

China's Ministry of Health has outlined new requirements concern- ing stem cell collection and transplants, outlawing illegal profits from stem cell transplantation. Two regulations issued by the ministry state that the sources of peripheral blood stem cells (PBSC), or stem cells, must be legal, registered sources that can be traced. The regulations aim to strengthen the management of stem cell collection and medical security, the ministry said. The regulations also forbid disclosing stem cell donor data. Stem cells, which are the body's master cells, circulate in the blood and in tissues. Stem cell transplantation has proved effective in treating blood diseases like sickle-cell anaemia, leukaemia and other blood disorders. (XNA, 24 Jul 06)

China's highest criminal prosecution body has issued new regulations detailing official abuses of authority, which it hopes will stamp out torture of criminals and criminal suspects. The regulations issued by the Supreme People's Procuratorate (SPP) on 26 July outline 42 offences of abuse of office with criteria by which prosecuting authorities could launch investigations. The offences include:

- divulging state secrets;
- releasing detainees without proper authority;
- abusing authority in company registration and establishment;
- failing to properly collect taxes;
- illegally issuing logging and tree-felling permits;
- selling land-use rights below value;
- improperly recruiting public servants;
- aiding and abetting fugitives;
- extracting confessions through torture, collecting evidence by violent means and abusing detainees.

SPP Vice-President Wang Zhenchuan said the SPP had previously lacked detailed standards and criteria by which to determine if an official was abusing his authority or office. "The new regulations detail circumstances in which officials can be considered to be abusing their power," Wang said. For example, the previous regulations prohibited law enforcement and judicial officers from using "brutal means" to extract confessions, and torture was defined by whether it caused "serious results". But prosecutors had no practical guidelines to determine what constituted “brutal means“ or “serious results“. The new regulations detail eight criteria for the crime of torture, including beating, binding, freezing, starving, exposing suspects to severe weather, severely injuring suspects, and directly or indirectly ordering others to use torture. Wang said the new regulations would help prosecutors determine if an official had committed an offence and if an investigation was required. “The human rights of criminal suspects will be better protected with these regulations,“ he said. Note: CPI (A), CPI(B) and CPI(C) are compiled based on the expenditure patterns of households in the relatively low, medium and relatively high expenditure ranges respectively. A Composite CPI is compiled based on the overall expenditure pattern of all the above households taken together. The CPI(C) was formerly known as the Hang Seng CPI and was compiled by the Hang Seng Bank since 1974. Starting from the reference month of July 1999, the data collection and compilation work of the index have been taken up by the Census and Statistics Department and the index has been renamed as CPI(C).
