Leaders Removed from Office

Ashat Kerimbay

Deputy Secretary of the CCP Xinjiang Autonomous Regional Committee.

Bu Qiong

Deputy Secretary of the CCP Tibet Autonomous Regional Committee.

Chen Liangyu,

secretary of the CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee has been sacked for his involvement in a social security fund scandal, making him one of the most senior mainland leaders ever to fall in a corruption scandal. (XNA, 25 Sep 06, SCMP, 26 Sep 06)

Chen was also suspended from the posts of member of the 24-member CCP CC Politburo and member of the CCP CC, said a decision by the CCP CC published on 25 September. Shanghai Mayor Han Zheng has been appointed the acting secretary of the CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee by the CCP CC. ...

The Central Commission for Discipline Inspection is investigating Chen's case.

According to the preliminary investigation, Chen was also involved in other discipline violations, such as "helping further the economic interests of illegal business people, protecting staff who severely violated laws and discipline, furthering the interests of family members by taking advantage of his official posts".

The CCP CC held that its investigation into Chen and his subsequent punishment "demonstrated the CCP's resolution to build a clean party and to fight corruption".

"Whoever it is, no matter how high their positions are, anyone who violates party rules or national law will be severely investigated and punished," the committee said in the press release.

The CCP CC warned that "all party members, especially senior cadres, must have a clear awareness of the far-reaching, complex and arduous nature of the fight against corruption", and urged them to maintain propriety in their lives, authority, social status and personal interests.

It reminded them to focus on improving their performance, to guard against temptations of power, money and sex, and to persist in stringent self-discipline.

Party committees at all levels should strengthen the education and management of cadres, tighten restrictions and supervision of authority, and promote a better party performance, clean and honest government, and the fight against graft, it said.

The CCP CC said it believed corruption would be curbed under the leadership of Hu Jintao as general secretary and with joint efforts of all party members and the public.

It was also confident of improving the general atmosphere in the party and society and pushing ahead the construction of socialism with Chinese characteristics, the press release said.

Chen Liangyu, born in 1946, is a native of Zhejiang's Ningbo. He joined the CCP in April 1980. He began his working career in August 1963. He graduated from the Logistic Engineering Academy of the People's Liberation Army, majoring in architectural structure. He holds a college degree and has engineer credentials.

Since 1992, Chen Liangyu has served as deputy secretary-general and deputy secretary of the CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee, vice-mayor, acting mayor, and mayor of Shanghai. He served as Shanghai's party secretary and mayor between October and November 2002 and member of the CCP CC Politburo, secretary of the CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee, and mayor of Shanghai between November 2002 and February 2003. He has served as member of the Politburo and secretary of the CCP Shanghai Municipal Committee since February 2003.

The corruption involving Shanghai's social security funds has already felled two Shanghai officials.

Zhu Junyi, director of the Shanghai Municipal Bureau of Labour and Social Security, was stripped of his post in August. The 55-year-old city official is suspected of misconduct involving a 3.2-billion-yuan loan of city funds to toll road operator Fuxi Investment Holding Co.

Also in August, Qin Yu, deputy secretary of the Shanghai's Baoshan District CCP Committee, was dismissed from the post for being involved in the misuse of the social security fund.

Earlier reports said more than 100 investigators from Beijing have gone to Shanghai to probe the corruption case in which money was siphoned off from Shanghai's social security system, which manages more than 10 billion yuan (1.25 billion dollars) in funds. ... (XNA, 25 Sep 06; Xinhua, 25 Sep 06, in BBC PF, 26 Sep 06))

Hu Jiayan (f)

Deputy Secretary of the CCP Xinjiang Autonomous Regional Committee.

Jiang Lansheng (f)

Removed from her post as vice-president of the Academy of Social Sciences.

(http://news.xinhuanet.com/politics/2006-10/27/content_5255601.htm, accessed 27 Oct 06)

Li Jun

Removed from the post as deputy director of the General Administration of Civil Aviation. (XNA, 25 Sep 06; RMRB, 26 Sep 06)

Ma Songde

Removed from his post as vice-minister of science and technology. (http://news.xinhuanet.com/politics/2006-10/27/content_5255601.htm, accessed 27 Oct 06)

Qiu Xiaohua

Removed from his post as director of the National Bureau of Statistics.

(http://news.xinhuanet.com/politics/2006-10/12/content_5196014.htm, accessed 13 Oct 06; XNA, 12 Oct 06)

Former head of China's National Bureau of Statistics (NBS) Qiu Xiaohua is suspected of involvement in the Shanghai social security fund fraud and is being investigated by disciplinary departments, a NBS spokesman said on 19 October.

Li Xiaochao, NBS newly appointed spokesman, said at the bureau's quarterly press conference that Qiu was found to "have seriously violated disciplines" in the Shanghai social security fund case. The case made headlines in September and led to the removal of Chen Liangyu from the post of secretary of the Shanghai Municipal Committee of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP).

Qiu was dismissed from his post of NBS director on 12 October. He had taken up the post just seven months earlier, replacing Li Deshui. Born in 1958, Qiu is a native of southeast China's Fujian Province. He was graduated from the Department of Economics of Xiamen University in Fujian in 1982.

He served as chief economist and NBS spokesman between 1993 and 1998 and was appointed deputy director in 1999.

Xie Fuzhan, previously deputy director of the Development Research Centre of the State Council, was appointed new NBS director.

Xie promised self-discipline when making his first public speech at a symposium on 13 October, emphasizing the NBS will redouble efforts to "improve the party's work style and build a clean government". (XNA, 19 Oct 06)

Qiu, 48, has been abruptly removed just seven months after he was appointed, raising speculation that the veteran economist has been detained for investigation. China's statistics have often been criticised for their poor quality and inconsistency. Foreign economists challenge their accuracy and suggest they are inflated by local officials to exaggerate their achievements. Qiu Xiaohua was often credited for his efforts in raising the quality of China's statistics and bringing them closer into line with international practice. (SCMP, 13 Oct 06)

Qiu Xiaohua was sacked over his suspected involvement in Shanghai's pension fund corruption scandal, the bureau's spokesman Li Xiaochao said on 19 October. Concerned departments, while investigating the Shanghai pension case, discovered that Qiu was suspected of severe violations of discipline, Li told reporters. The Central Commission for Discipline Inspection is currently investigating this. (SCMP, 19 Oct 06)

Deaths

Liao Hansheng

China's former deputy defence minister, Lt-Gen Liao Hansheng, died in Beijing at the age of 95.

According to a brief report from the military, Liao died of illness at 6.30 a.m. [local time] on 5 October but the report did not release details of Liao's illness.

Born in 1911, Liao joined the CCP in 1933. He was granted the rank of lieutenant general in 1955. Liao was later appointed as deputy minister of national defence.

He was persecuted and imprisoned during the "Cultural Revolution" from 1967 to 1973.

After the end of Cultural Revolution, Liao continued to serve on key positions for the country and the military, including the post of vice-chairman of the 6th and 7th NPC Standing Committee, First Political Commissar of Shenyang Military Region, and member of the Central Military Commission. (XNA, 5 Oct 06; RMRB, 6 Oct 06)

Wang Guangmei

Former first lady Wang Guangmei died in Beijing on 13 October at the age of 85. She is the widow of late president Liu Shaoqi, who was head of state between 1959 and 1968 but was purged by Mao Zedong and died in confinement in 1969. She obtained a Master's degree in atomic physics from Fu Jen Catholic University in Beijing in 1943. She went to Yan'an in 1946 where she met Liu Shaoqi. She worked as his secretary for 18 years after she married him in 1948. It is widely believed her beauty and popularity brought her the wrath of Mao's wife, Jiang Qing, who accused her of being a US spy during the Cultural Revolution. Liu and Wang were taken by Red Guards during 1966 and put in confinement separately. Her husband's death is known to have been particularly brutal - he was half beaten, half starved to death in 1969. Their four children were also purged in different ways. Wang Guangmei was jailed for 12 years from 1967 and only released in 1979, a year before her husband's case was redressed. She became a member of the Foreign Affairs Bureau of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences after her release and was later appointed a member of the NPC Standing Committee. She stepped back into the limelight in 1995 after she initiated Project Happiness to help impoverished mainland mothers by providing them with basic medical care. Wang rejected the idea of holding a grudge against Mao and she always highlighted her husband's loyalty to the chairman. Her brother Wang Guangying is honorary chairman of China Everbright, while her son, Liu Yuan, was promoted to Political Commissar of the Academy of Military Sciences last year. (SCMP, 14 Oct 06) The funeral was attended by President Hu Jintao and Jia Qinglin, chairperson of the National Committee of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference. (SCMP, 22 Oct 06)

The funeral for Wang Guangmei, wife of late Chinese president Liu Shaoqi, was held on 21 October at the Babaoshan Revolutionary Martyrs' Cemetery in Beijing. Wang Guangmei died on 13 October at the No 305 Military Hospital in Beijing at the age of 85.

Born in Beijing in 1921, Wang graduated from the Beijing's Catholic University as a postgraduate majoring in physics and began her career as an English interpreter at the Beijing Headquarters in Military Mediation for the CCP in 1946. She later went to Yan'an, the revolutionary cradle of the CCP in central Shaanxi Province, to work as interpreter for diplomatic occasions. In 1948, Wang became a member of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) and married Liu Shaoqi later that year. She continued to work as Liu Shaoqi's secretary after the founding of the People's Republic of China. She went with Liu to make inspections in more than 20 provinces and municipalities and visits to other countries. Soon after the "Cultural Revolution" started in 1966, Wang Guangmei was cruelly purged by Lin Biao and the "Gang of Four". In August 1979, Wang was rehabilitated and appointed director of the foreign affairs department of the Chinese Academy of Social Sciences the same year. In 1995, the "Project of happiness - Help Impoverished Mothers" was officially launched under her guidance. Thanks to her efforts, the project has raised 310m yuan (39.9m US dollars) to relieve 154,000 rural mothers and households from poverty, benefiting 695,000 people. The 2nd China Poverty Eradication Award honoured Wang, along with other nine individuals and organizations, for their outstanding contribution to the fight against poverty on 17 October at the Great Hall of the People in Beijing. Regulation on protecting oceanic environments from construction pollution, approved by the 148th Executive Meeting of the State Council on 30 August 2006, is hereby promulgated and will be put into effect on 1 November 2006. (Decree No.475 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 19 September 2006) The regulations consist of eight chapters with 59 articles. (Full text of the regulations: RMRB, 9 Oct 06)

The Chinese government on 6 October published a regulation on protecting oceanic environments from construction pollution, vowing to tighten control on approvals of marine projects.

The regulation, issued by the State Council and due to take effect from 1 November, aims at new, upgraded and extended projects along the coastline which exploit, utilize, protect and restore marine resources.

The location of the projects, such as power plants, seabed tunnels, seafood breeding areas and sightseeing spots, cannot affect the environment of the sea area or adjacent waters.

Project managers must make environment assessment reports to sea administration departments before construction starts. Approval can only be given after collecting opinions from maritime and fishing departments, and public hearings if necessary, the regulation says.

Proposals for sea enclosures and filling projects must undergo public hearings before a decision on approval.

Sea administration departments must approve or reject the reports within 60 working days. Reports of projects involving national security, exploitation of mineral resources, power generating and large-scale sea enclosures and filling must be submitted to the State Oceanic Administration (SOA).

Evaluations of marine environmental impacts have been launched on all current oil exploitation and seabed tunnel projects, according to the SOA.

The regulation also requires environmental protection facilities to be built and put into use during the main construction. The project cannot start operation without checks and approvals of environmental protection facilities by authorities.

Discharge of toxic and harmful waste, such as oil, plastic, acids, radioactive liquids and gases, is strictly controlled or forbidden. Pollutant dischargers must pay discharge fees to local commercial banks.

Coordination between oceanic administration departments and oil exploitation departments must be strengthened to improve emergency response plans and prevent serious oil leaks.

The SOA will enhance monitoring of waste discharges and publish regular reports.

The regulation also underlines inspection and supervision of governments and classifies penalties on project operators who disobey the rules or cause pollution accidents.

Any organization or individual is entitled to report in confidence to the authorities projects that cause pollution or damage the marine ecological system.
