Please note:

The establishment of China Post Group (CPG) on 30 November marks the separation of the regulatory functions of the former State Post Bureau (SPB) from its business activities.

CPG sources said the group is restructuring its businesses including mail delivery services and the publication and issuance of stamps.

The new CPG group has registered capital of 80bn yuan (10bn US dollars). Liu Andong, former director of SPB, has been appointed general manager of CPG, and Ma Junsheng, former deputy director of SPB, has been named to head the State Post Management Bureau (SPMB). CPG will own the China Postal Air Freight Corporation and the China Postal Savings Bank. The source said the merger of the China Postal Logistics Corporation with EMS is almost complete. The new entity will be controlled by CPG. Traditionally both supervisor and a player in the market, SPB was placed in a difficult position when more and more companies, including overseas delivery firms, began to compete in the country's lucrative postal market. Sources with the Shanghai Securities News said the State Post Management Bureau also began operations on 30 November. A number of provincial Post Management Bureau agencies have been set up since September. (XNA, 1 Dec 06)

(http://www.xz.xinhuanet.com/xizangzhengshi/2003-11/22/content 7688216.htm, accessed 8 Dec 06; ZXS, 6 Dec 06, in BBC PF, 8 Dec 06; SCMP, 7 Dec 06)

Hong Kong, 6 December: Hu Chunhua, 43, has been recently appointed first secretary of the Secretariat of the Communist Youth League (CYL) Central Committee to succeed Zhou Qiang, who was transferred to the post of acting governor of Hunan. By taking over the position to head the organization known as the "CCP's [Chinese Communist Party's] assistant and reserve force", Hu has become one of the youngest senior officials at the provincial and ministerial level. This has drawn the enormous attention of those who are concerned about developments in China's political circles.

Hu Chunhua is from Wufeng Tujia Autonomous County of Hubei Province. This is a mountainous area in western Hubei. Green hills and clear waters make this a beautiful place, but its economy is underdeveloped. In 1979, 16-year-old Hu Chunhua was admitted to Beijing University after graduating from the high school liberal arts class with the highest scores in the county. During the period of his four-year college life, China was making ceaseless efforts to deepen its reform and opening up, and its society was undergoing intensive changes. At that time, how to realize the values of life was a hot topic discussed by people of various communities.

In 1983, with an outstanding academic record, Hu Chunhua graduated from the Chinese Literature Department of Beijing University. On his own initiative, he applied for a job in Tibet. In August that year, he set out from his native place, Wufeng, Hubei. After more than 20 days of hard travelling, which covered a distance of some 4 000 kilometres, he arrived in I hasa. In Tibet, he worked steadily and progressed step by step, starting from the very basic level. He served successively as a senior clerk in an organization of the Tibet Regional CYL Committee, assistant manager of the Personnel Department of Lhasa Hotel, deputy secretary of the Tibet Regional CYL Committee, deputy commissioner of the Nyingchi Prefectural Administrative Office, and commissioner of the Shannan Prefectural Administrative Office. In 1997, he was transferred to the central level to fill the post of secretary of the Secretariat of the CYL Central Committee and serve concurrently as vice-chairman of the All-China Youth Federation.

After 2001, 38-year-old Hu Chunhua went to Tibet again, where he filled such posts as member of the Standing Committee of the Tibet Regional CCP Committee and deputy secretary of the Tibet Regional CCP Committee. Altogether, he worked 19 years in Tibet. During those years, he braved the inclement natural conditions and went deep into grassroots units to visit the poor and look into the hardships of the masses. Of the 75 counties in Tibet, nearly 60 were visited by him. In the past, Medog County, which is some 500 kilometres from Lhasa, was the only county not linked by highways in China. To build a highway, Hu Chunhua led engineering and technical personnel to go there to conduct surveys and map out the highway route. Through more than half a month's survey and mapping, all done on foot, a highway was finally completed. To describe Tibet, Hu Chunhua once said: "In Tibet, every place is unique and worth praising by songs. Even the music here is pure, profound, and great."

Hu Chunhua's political career resembles that of Hu Jintao, presently general secretary of the CCP Central Committee. Both have worked in the CYL and filled important posts in Tibet, where natural conditions are inclement. Especially noteworthy is that they have had many encounters in their political careers: In 1983 when Hu Chunhua took the initiative to apply to go to Tibet, Hu Jintao was chairman of the All-China Youth Federation. This enthusiastic young man must have impressed Hu Jintao at that time. Between 1988 and 1992, Hu Jintao was secretary of the Tibet Regional CCP Committee, while Hu Chunhua was deputy secretary of the Tibet Regional CYL Committee. When Hu Chunhua was 27, he was promoted to the grade of deputy departmental director - a very rare promotion in China's political circles. From 1996 to 1999, Hu Chunhua studied in the Party School. At that time, the school president was Hu Jintao.

As everyone knows, China's CYL has, all along, been regarded as a cradle for the CCP's high-ranking reserve officials. Many of the present high-ranking officials in China's political circles have filled important CYL posts. According to an analysis, the reason to let Hu Chunhua take over the rein of the CYL is that he is young and capable and is familiar with CYL work because he has worked there. Apart from that, there is another reason that should not be excluded: The high authorities have the intention of tempering him in the CYL and familiarizing him, through his CYL position, with the work in the economic, social, cultural, and other fields so as to make him more politically mature. An informed source says that Hu Chunhua once made this remark: "Only when we are by the side of the people, can our hearts be close to the people's hearts." Working steadily and being concerned about the people's hardships are Hu Chunhua's greatest advantage. This is also one of the principal criteria by which the CCP selects and promotes cadres during the new period. (ZXS, 6 Dec 06, in BBC PF, 8 Dec 06; SCMP, 7 Dec 06)

Deaths

Hong Xuezhi

A host of senior Chinese leaders turned out on 27 November to bid a final farewell to revolutionary hero and former general Hong Xuezhi who was cremated at the Babaoshan Cemetery in Beijing. Hong Xuezhi, who died on 20 November aged 94, was honoured as "excellent" member of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP), a time-tested, loyal Communist fighter, a proletarian revolutionary and soldier. President Hu Jintao, top legislator Wu Bangguo, Premier Wen Jiabao, and other state and party leaders Jia Qinglin, Zeng Qinghong and Li Changchun attended the funeral.

Hong, a native of Jinzhai County, Anhui Province, was born on 2 February 1913. Hong joined a CCP-led village-based armed force in 1928 and the Chicheng Guerilla corps in 1929. He was admitted to the CCP in May 1929. In December 1929, he joined the CCP-led Chinese Workers' and Peasants' Red Army. He participated in the Long March in the mid-1930s. During the Anti-Japanese War (1937-45) and the Liberation War (1946-49), Hong took a series of positions in the CCP-led armed forces. Hong was a deputy to the commander Peng Dehuai and later the commander of the Chinese People's Volunteers in the Korean War (1950-53). From 1954, Hong was mainly in charge of the army's logistics arm and weapons manufacturing, except from 1959 to 1974, when he worked in local government in Jilin Province or was detained for political reasons. Hong was a vice-chairman of the Seventh and Eighth National Committees of the Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference (CPPCC), а former member secretary-general of the Central Military Commission (CMC).

Hu Jintao, former president Jiang Zemin, and state and party leaders Wu Bangguo, Wen Jiabao, Jia Qinglin, Zeng Qinghong, Huang Ju, Wu Guanzheng, Li Changchun and Luo Gan visited Hong when he was in hospital or paid their condolences to his family after his death. (XNA, 27 Nov 06; RMRB, 22, 28 Nov 06)

The remains of Comrade Hong Xuezhi - an exemplary CCP [Chinese Communist Party] member, long-tested loyal communist fighter, proletarian revolutionary and military strategist, pioneer of the Army's modern logistics work, vice chairman of the Seventh and Eighth Chinese People's Political Consultative Conference [CPPCC] National Committees, former member and deputy secretary general of the Central Military Commission [CMC], and former director and concurrently political commissar of the Liberation Army General Logistics Department - were cremated at the Babaoshan Revolutionary Cemetery in Beijing on 27 November. Comrade Hong Xuezhi passed away in Beijing at 2210 [local time] on 20 November 2006 at the age of 94, after failing to respond to any medical treatment. While Comrade Hong Xuezhi was seriously ill and after his death, Comrades Hu Jintao, Jiang Zemin, Wu Bangguo, Wen Jiabao, Jia Qinglin, Zeng Qinghong, Huang Ju, Wu Guanzheng, Li Changchun, and Luo Gan visited him at the hospital, or expressed profound grief in various ways over Comrade Hong Xuezhi's death and extended deep condolences to his family. ... International Agreements

China has granted tourist destination status to 26 African countries, according to an action plan endorsed by Chinese and African leaders in Beijing on 5 November.

"With the new decision of the Chinese government to extend the Approved Destination Status (ADS) to nine African countries including Algeria, Cape Verde, Cameroon, Gabon, Rwanda, Mali, Mozambique, Benin and Nigeria, there are now 26 ADS countries in Africa," says the document adopted at the Beijing Summit of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation, a high-profile gathering of leaders from China and 48 African countries that have diplomatic relations with it.

The number of Chinese tourists to Africa reached 110,000 in 2005, doubling the 2004 figure, according to the Exit-Entry Administration Bureau of the Public Security Ministry.

Yet tourists to Africa currently account for merely five per cent of the total outbound tourists from the world's most populous nation.

In 2005, the Chinese made 31m trips overseas and the figure is expected to grow by 10 per cent this year.

Eyeing the huge potential, governments and travel services in many African countries are wooing Chinese tourists and encouraging more Africans to travel to China.

According to statistics from the World Travel and Tourism Council, the travel and tourism industry in North Africa represents 13.4 per cent of GDP and provides 12 per cent of employment.

In sub-Saharan Africa, the sector contributes eight per cent of GDP and generates 10.5 million jobs, accounting for 6.6 per cent of total employment.

Tourism revenue in Africa is expected to grow by 4.7 per cent annually in real terms between 2007 and 2016.

The Chinese government will extend ADS to more qualified African countries at their request, says the Action Plan. "China-Africa cooperation in the tourism industry will help promote understanding and friendship between their peoples," it says.

Chinese tourists can get visas to African countries within seven working days, according to Lin Bo, an executive with China International Travel Service, the country's largest travel service provider.

The landmark two-day Beijing Summit concluded on 5 November, after two historic documents, a declaration and an action plan for 2007-2009, had been adopted. (XNA, 5 Nov 06)

Lome, 23 November: China and West African nations signed a credit agreement that involves tens of millions of euros, a follow-up to the China-Africa summit held last month in Beijing. At the end of a tow-day forum, the China Day of Economy, the Import and Export Bank of China and the West African Development Bank (WADB) signed the document under which China will provide 70m euros (90.7m US dollars) in credit. The People's Bank of China signed a separate agreement with the WADB to provide one million dollars in a technical cooperation fund. On behalf of Togolese Prime Minister Yaovi Agboyibo, who opened the China Day of Economy in Lome on Wednesday, Minister of Commerce, Industry and Handicrafts Jean-Lucien Savi de Tove addressed the closing of the forum, saying it has brought hope of economic development to the West African Economic and Monetary Union (UEMOA). He said he was looking forward to a new era of economic cooperation and mutual benefits between China and the UEMOA. The economic integration in the region must be based on the model of a fruitful strategic partnership between China and African nations, the minister added. During the China Day of Economy, participants explored ways to broaden cooperation, especially in personnel training, technical transfer and infrastructure construction. They also exchanged views on regional investments and economic potential, reaching the consensus that closer ties should be forged between Chinese and West African business circles.

The UEMOA, established in 1994, groups Burkina Faso, Mali, Senegal, Togo, Benin, Niger, Cote d'Ivoire and Guinea-Bissau. The group, which comprises all of France's former West African colonies except Guinea, aims to promote the free movement of people, goods and capital among the member states. The UEMOA states are also members of the larger Economic Community of West African states formed by all the 16 countries in the West African region. (XNA, 24 Nov 06)

Haikou, 15 December: Ministerial officials from 11 of East Asia's coastal countries signed an agreement to implement a Sustainable Development Strategy for the Seas of Fast Asia (SDS-SEA). Ministerial level officials from Cambodia, Democratic People's Republic of Korea [DPRK], Indonesia, Japan, Laos, the Philippines, Republic of Korea, Singapore, East Timor, Vietnam and China signed the Haikou declaration, on a Chinese marine administration vessel in Haikou Bay outside the capital city of South China's Hainan Province. The declaration included a three-year action plan on sustainable development covering 2007 to 2010. The declaration said that the East Asian seas had encountered many environmental problems which have increased in recent years. All the countries that signed the declaration promised to mobilize their financial and legal resources to implement a 10-year long plan which is aimed at ensuring at least 20 per cent of the participating countries' coasts is covered by comprehensive coastal management. Dr Cai Chengying, an official of the East Asia Seas Congress, said that the declaration would not only benefit the concerned countries' ability to protect their marine environment, but also help them reduce disputes and increase mutual political trust. China's State Council on 1 December published revised Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Nuclear Export Controls that give the government more control over the end use of exported nuclear technology. The new regulations will take immediate effect. (Decree No.480 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 9 November 2006) The regulations consist of 24 articles.

According to the revised version, the goal of the regulations is to enhance control over nuclear exports, prevent proliferation, guard against nuclear terrorism, safeguard national security and promote international cooperation in using nuclear energy peacefully.

The new regulations add an article that requires the government of countries importing Chinese technology to guarantee they will seek Chinese government consent before attempting to enrich uranium to a level above 20 per cent using the equipment provided by China.

The new regulations also allow Chinese customs to require exporters to apply to the Ministry of Commerce for documents that demonstrate whether the export comes under the nuclear export controls

Since the mid-1990s, China has gradually set up a comprehensive legal system for export controls on nuclear, biological, chemical, missile and other sensitive items and technologies as well as all military products.

The government has promulgated Regulations on the Control of Nuclear Exports, Regulations on the Export Control of Dual-Use Biological Agents, Regulations on the Export Control of Missiles and Missile-Related Items and Technologies, and Regulations on the Administration of Arms Export.

The Foreign Trade Law, the Customs Law and the Criminal Law also provide a legal basis for China's non-proliferation export controls.

The government has stepped up campaigns to publicize laws and regulations on export controls. (XNA, 1 Dec 06)

_Beijing, 1 December: Decision of the State Council on Amending the Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Control of Nuclear Export

The State Council has decided to make the following amendments to the Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Control of Nuclear Export:

- 1. Article 1 is amended to read: "These regulations are formulated for the purposes of strengthening the control of nuclear export, preventing proliferation of nuclear weapons, guarding against nuclear terrorist acts, safeguarding the State security and social and public interests, and promoting international cooperation in peaceful utilization of nuclear energy."
- 2. Article 2 is amended to read: "The term nuclear export as used in these Regulations refers to the transfer of such items as nuclear materials, nuclear equipment, and non-nuclear materials for use in reactors as well as their related technologies as listed on the "Nuclear Export Control List" (hereinafter referred to as the "Control List") through such means as commercial exports, gifts to and exhibitions in foreign countries or regions, as well as scientific and technological cooperation with and assistance to foreign countries or regions."

- 3. Paragraph 2, Article 3, is amended to read: "The state strictly restricts export of such sensitive items involved in nuclear proliferation as uranium enrichment facilities and equipment, irradiated fuel reprocessing facilities and equipment, heavy water production facilities and equipment, and their related technologies, as well as materials that can be used in nuclear weapons or other nuclear explosion devices."
- 4. Section 3, Article 5, is amended to read: "The government of the receiving party has concluded a valid comprehensive safeguards agreement with the International Atomic Energy Agency [IAEA]. This provision does not apply to countries that have entered into voluntary safeguards agreements with the IAEA"; and adding an additional section, Section 5, which reads: "The government of the receiving party shall pledge that, without the Chinese Government's consent, the receiving party may not use uranium enrichment facilities and technologies supplied by China or any facilities on the basis of these technologies to produce uranium enriched to a level of 20 per cent or more."
- 5. An additional article, Article 16, is added, which reads: "The Customs may question an exporter whether nuclear export documents need to be processed for the items and related technologies being exported and may ask the exporter to apply with the Ministry of Commerce for a certificate testifying whether they fall within the scope of nuclear export control. Where they fall within the scope of nuclear export control, an application shall be filed pursuant to the provisions of these regulations to obtain a nuclear export permit."
- 6. Article 16 is renamed Article 17 and is amended to read: "If the receiving party or its government violates the pledge it made pursuant to the provisions of Article 5 of these Regulations, or if there is the danger of nuclear proliferation or nuclear terrorism, COSTIND and the Ministry of Commerce, in conjunction with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and other relevant departments, shall have the power to decide to suspend the export of related items or technologies, and shall notify the Customs in writing for enforcement."
- 7. Article 17 is renamed Article 18 and is amended to read: "Anyone who in violation of the provisions of these Regulations exports nuclear materials, nuclear equipment, non-nuclear materials used for reactors, shall be punished according to the relevant provisions of the Customs Law. Where related technologies listed on the "Control List" are exported in violation of the provisions of these regulations, the Ministry of Commerce shall issue a warning and impose a fine no less than twice but no more than six times the amount involved in the illegal transaction. If the amount of the illegal transaction is less than 50,000 yuan, a fine no less than 50,000 yuan but no more than 250,000 yuan shall be levied. Any illicit proceeds shall be confiscated. If a crime has been committed, criminal liability shall be ascertained according to law."

- 8. Article 18 is renamed Article 19 and is amended to read: "Those who forge, alter, buy, or sell nuclear export permits, or obtain nuclear export permits through deception and other improper means, shall be penalized pursuant to the provisions of relevant laws and administrative statutes. If crimes have been committed, criminal liability shall be ascertained according to law."
- 9. Article 20 is renamed Article 21 and is amended to read: "The China Atomic Energy Authority, together with COSTIND, the Ministry of Commerce, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the General Administration of Customs, and other relevant departments, may adjust the "Control List" in light of the actual circumstances and release it to the public."
- 10. An additional article, Article 23, is added, which reads: "The provisions of these Regulations shall apply to export of items and related technologies listed on the "Control List" from areas subject to special customs supervision and control, such as bonded warehouses, bonded zones, and export processing zones, as well as other bonded venues. The transit, transshipment, and through-shipping of items and related technologies listed on the "Control List" shall be handled with reference to the provisions of these Regulations."

In addition to the above amendments, appropriate adjustment and revisions shall be made with regard to the sequence of the articles and their texts.

The decision shall take effect on the date of its promulgation.

The Regulations of the People's Republic of China on Control of Nuclear Export shall be appropriately amended and promulgated in accordance with this decision.

Beijing, 1 December: The People's Republic of China [PRC] Nuclear Export Control Regulations

(Promulgated on 10 September 1997 as per PRC State Council Decree No 230 and amended pursuant to the State Council Decision on Amending the "People's Republic of China Nuclear Export Control Regulations" on 9 November 2006)

Article 1

These regulations were formulated for the purposes of tightening control on nuclear exports, preventing nuclear weapons proliferation, guarding against nuclear terrorist acts, safeguarding national security and public interests, and promoting international cooperation in the peaceful use of nuclear energy.

Article 2

The term nuclear exports used in these regulations refers to transfers of such items as nuclear materials, nuclear equipment, and non-nuclear materials for use in reactors as well as their related technologies as listed on the "Nuclear Export Control List" (hereinafter referred to as the "Control List") through such means as commercial exports, gifts to other countries, exhibitions abroad, and scientific and technological cooperation with and assistance for other countries.

Article 3

The state exercises strict control over nuclear exports and strictly fulfils the international obligations it has undertaken regarding the nonproliferation of nuclear weapons.

The state strictly restricts exports of such sensitive items involved in nuclear proliferation as uranium enrichment facilities and equipment, irradiated fuel reprocessing facilities and equipment, heavy water production facilities and equipment, and their related technologies, as well as materials that can be used in nuclear weapons or other nuclear explosion devices.

Article 4

Nuclear exports shall follow the provisions of relevant state laws and administrative statutes and may not jeopardize national security or public interests.

Article 5

The following criteria shall be observed in examining and approving nuclear exports:

(1) Where the recipient government pledges not to use for the purposes of nuclear explosions any nuclear materials, nuclear equipment, or non-nuclear materials for use in reactors supplied by China as well as special fissile materials produced through their use;

- (2) Where the recipient government pledges to take appropriate measures to physically protect nuclear materials supplied by China as well as special fissile materials produced through their use;
- (3) Where the recipient government has concluded a valid comprehensive safeguards agreement with the International Atomic Energy Agency [IAEA]. This provision does not apply to countries that have entered into voluntary safeguards agreements with the IAEA;
- (4) Where the recipient pledges that, without the prior written consent of China's atomic energy authority, it will not transfer to a third party nuclear materials, nuclear equipment, or non-nuclear materials for use in reactors supplied by China and their related technologies. In the event of a transfer with prior consent, the third party that accepts the transfer shall undertake obligations corresponding to those of the party directly supplied by China; and
- (5) Where the recipient government pledges that, without the Chinese Government's consent, it may not use uranium enrichment facilities and technologies supplied by China or any facilities on the basis of these technologies to produce uranium enriched to a level of 20 per cent or more.

Article 6

Nuclear exports shall be handled exclusively by units designated by the State Council. No other units or individuals may handle them.

Article 7

To export items listed on the "Control List" and their related technologies, an application shall be filed with the state atomic energy authority. A nuclear export application form shall be filled out, and the following documents shall be submitted:

- (1) The applicant's certificate of eligibility to exclusively handle nuclear exports;
- (2) The identification of the applicant's legal representative, principal management personnel, and personnel who handle the relevant matter;
 - (3) A duplicate copy of the contract or agreement;
- (4) An analytical report on the nuclear materials or non-nuclear materials for use in reactors:

- (5) The end user's certificate;
- (6) A certificate of pledges by the recipient pursuant to the provisions of Article 5 of these regulations; and
 - (7) Any other documents required by the examining authority.

Article 8

Applicants shall truthfully fill out nuclear export application forms. Nuclear export application forms shall be printed uniformly by the state atomic energy authority.

Article 9

Where there are changes to information provided on a nuclear export application form, the applicant shall promptly make corrections or resubmit the export application. An applicant who discontinues nuclear exports shall promptly withdraw the nuclear export application.

Article 10

Within 15 working days of receiving a nuclear export application form and the documents listed in Article 7 of these regulations, the state atomic energy authority shall offer its opinion on examination and notify the applicant. If approval is granted after examination, the case shall be handled pursuant to the following provisions depending on the different circumstances:

- (1) Where nuclear materials are exported, the case shall be forwarded for review by the Commission of Science, Technology, and Industry for National Defence [COSTIND] or by COSTIND in conjunction with relevant departments;
- (2) Where nuclear equipment or non-nuclear materials for use in reactors and their related technologies are exported, the case shall be forwarded for review by the Ministry of Commerce or by the Ministry of Commerce in conjunction with COSTIND and other departments concerned.

Within 15 working days of receiving the nuclear export application form, the documents listed in Article 7 of these regulations, and the opinion on examination forwarded by the state atomic energy authority, COSTIND and the Ministry of Commerce shall offer their review opinions and notify the applicant.

Where the state atomic energy authority, COSTIND, and the Ministry of Commerce need to extend the examination or review period due to special circumstances, they may extend it by an additional 15 working days, but they shall notify the applicant.

Article 11

In handling a nuclear export that may have an important impact on national security, public interests, or foreign policy, the state atomic energy authority, COSTIND, and the Ministry of Commerce shall, during their examination or review, consult the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and other relevant departments. If necessary, they shall submit the case to the State Council for examination and approval.

Cases submitted to the State Council for examination and approval shall not be subject to the time frames provided for in Article 10 of these regulations.

Article 12

For nuclear export applications that have been approved through review or examination and approval as provided for in these regulations, the Ministry of Commerce shall issue nuclear export permits.

Article 13

The bearer of a nuclear export permit who changes the items and related technologies for which the original export application was filed shall return the original permit and file a new application to obtain a nuclear export permit pursuant to the provisions of these regulations.

Article 14

Upon issuance of a nuclear export permit, the Ministry of Commerce shall notify the state atomic energy authority in writing.

Article 15

When handling nuclear exports, a unit designated to exclusively handle said nuclear exports shall present the nuclear export permit to the customs authorities, complete customs procedures pursuant to the provisions of the Customs Law, and accept supervision and control by the customs authorities.

Article 16

The customs authorities may question an exporter whether nuclear export documents need to be processed for the items and related technologies being exported and may ask the exporter to apply with the Ministry of Commerce for a certificate testifying whether they are covered by the scope of nuclear export control. Where they fall within the scope of nuclear export control, an application shall be filed pursuant to the provisions of these regulations to obtain a nuclear export permit.

Article 17

If the recipient or its government violates the pledges it has made pursuant to the provisions of Article 5 of these regulations, or if there is the danger of nuclear proliferation or nuclear terrorism, COSTIND and the Ministry of Commerce, in conjunction with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and other relevant departments, has the right to make a decision to suspend the export of related items or technologies. They shall notify the customs authorities in writing for the purposes of implementation.

Article 18

Where nuclear materials, nuclear equipment, or non-nuclear materials for use in reactors are exported in violation of the provisions of these regulations, punishment shall be meted out pursuant to the provisions of the Customs Law.

Where related technologies listed on the "Control List" are exported in violation of the provisions of these regulations, the Ministry of Commerce shall issue a warning and impose a fine no less than twice but no more than six times the amount involved in the illegal transaction. If the amount of the illegal transaction is less than 50,000 yuan [approx 6,400 US dollars], a fine no less than 50,000 yuan but no more than 250,000 yuan shall be levied. Any illicit proceeds shall be confiscated. If a crime has been committed, criminal liability shall be investigated according to law.

Article 19

Those who forge, alter, buy, or sell nuclear export permits, or obtain nuclear export permits through deception and other improper means, shall be penalized pursuant to the provisions of relevant laws and administrative statutes. If crimes have been committed, criminal liability shall be investigated according to law.

Article 20

Where state personnel involved in nuclear export control neglect their duties, commit fraud to seek personal gain, or abuse their power, and if their actions constitute crimes, their criminal liability shall be investigated according to law. If their actions do not constitute crimes, they shall be given disciplinary action according to law.

Article 21

The state atomic energy authority, together with COSTIND, the Ministry of Commerce, the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the General Administration of Customs, and other relevant departments, may adjust the "Control List" in light of the actual circumstances and release it to the public.

Article 22

In the event certain provisions of an international treaty to which the People's Republic of China is a signatory or to which it has acceded differ from those in these regulations, the provisions of the international treaty shall apply; however, clauses over which the People's Republic of China has expressed its reservations are excepted.

Article 23

The provisions of these regulations shall apply to exports of items listed on the "Control List" and related technologies from areas subject to special customs supervision and control, such as bonded warehouses, bonded zones, and export processing zones, as well as other bonded venues.

The transit, transshipment, and through-shipping of items listed on the "Control List" and related technologies shall be handled with reference to the provisions of these regulations.

Article 24

These regulations shall take effect on the date of their promulgation.

Regulations on the Organization and Management of Public Security Organs, adopted at the 154th executive meeting of the State Council on 1 November 2006. These regulations will take effect as of 1 January 2007. (Decree No.479 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 13 November 2006) (Full text of the rules: RMRB, 25 Nov 06) The regulations consist of seven chapters with 42 articles.

China has revised its regulations on medical service advertisements in an attempt to put a stop to false and misleading advertising. The new regulations, which will take effect on 1 January, 2007, will eliminate exaggeration of the effects of certain medical treatments by banning the mention of any disease names, the Beijing News reported. An advertisement can reveal no more than the following information: name of the medical institution, its address and phone number, specialty and qualification, type of ownership, number of beds and opening hours. Medical advertisements will continue to be approved by provincial health authorities, but more emphasis will be placed on vetting the text used in the adverts to market the "No change can be made to the approved advertisements. Not even a comma can be changed," Zhou Jun, a senior official from the Ministry of Health, was quoted as saying. The new regulations also increased the penalty for violating the law. In serious cases, medical institutions can be suspended or even have their licences revoked. Statistics show that the medical industry was the sixth largest spender on advertising in 2005, spending 7.6bn yuan (96m US dollars). Illegal and false medical advertisements have been on rise. In the first nine months of the year, 4,644 cases were dealt with by the authorities. The new regulations are expected to have an adverse impact on China's burgeoning private hospitals. "If the new regulations are enforced, medical advertisements will be mere announcements," the China Business News quoted an unidentified source with a Shanghai-based private hospital as saying. Private hospitals are usually not designated hospitals for government workers or clients of medical insurance, hence they need advertising more than their state-owned counterparts, the source said. China's highest criminal prosecution body has issued new regulations detailing procedures for recording and videotaping interrogations of people suspected of white-collar crime in a bid to stamp out confessions extracted by torture. According to the newly-released regulations by the Supreme People's Procuratorate (SPP), interrogations should be recorded and filmed live and in whole. The recording should begin when the suspect enters the room for questioning, and end after the suspect has checked the confession transcript, signed his or her name and put a thumbprint on the document, the regulations read. The regulations specify that at fixed interrogation venues, technicians must videotape the scene in Picture-in-Picture (PIP) mode. The suspect should be seen front on and occupy the centre of the main video picture so that his or her posture and expression can be seen, as well as the time of recording, while the sub video picture should present a panorama of the site. In temporary questioning sites where PIP equipment is not available, the video picture should mainly cover the suspect but the recording time and the panorama should be shown from time to time. The internal temperature and humidity and prosecutors at the scene should be shown at the beginning, the regulations read. Raw videotape materials must be put into a sealed bag after the technicians, prosecutors and suspect have all put their thumbprint to it. The regulations also lay down the specific procedure for the storage, copying, transfer and reception of recording and videotape materials. According to Chinese laws, it is the function of people's procuratorates to investigate crimes at work such as corruption, bribery and dereliction of duty. The Supreme People's Procuratorate has embarked on a campaign to clean up illegal interrogations. It decreed in March this year that synchronous video and audio recordings shall be adopted during interrogations in major cases, murder and gang crimes for instance, by procuratorates at all levels. As of 1 October, 2007, procurators will make real-time videos of all interrogations concerning job-related crimes, said sources with the SPP. (XNA, 20 Dec 06)

China specifies punishments of government officials in production safety.

Government officials will face warnings, demotions, dismissal and prosecution for transgressions in production safety, according to new rules issued on 22 November 2006. "Severe penalties are needed to tackle disorder in production safety," said Li Yizhong, director of China's State Administration of Work Safety (SAWS). The interim rules, jointly issued by the SAWS and the Ministry of Supervision, define 25 types of punishable acts by government officials and 18 types by executives of state-owned businesses, including:

- -- approving projects that do not meet safety requirements;
- -- failure to address unsafe production activities;
- -- intervention in the procurement of safety equipment and facilities;
- -- failure to deal with identified major hazards, which later lead to accidents;
- -- covering up production accidents, failure to provide true reports and delaying reports of production accidents;
- -- obstructing investigations into production accidents;
- -- personally or allowing their family members to hold stakes in coal mines or running businesses in production safety areas; and
- -- executives allowing their businesses to continue operation after their licenses have been revoked or they have been ordered to stop production.

"Some regional governments value economic growth far above safety," said Vice-Minister of Supervision Chen Changzhi. "Lax law enforcement has become a ubiquitous problem." He said some leading cadres and government functionaries did not faithfully carry out their duties. Some abused power for personal gain and acted as shields for illegal activities. "There is no lack of such instances in the five production safety accidents the Ministry of Supervision has handled this year," said Chen. Li Yizhong was hopeful the rules will intensify the crackdown on corruption and prevent production accidents. Compared with September, China reported a 26.1-percent rise in coal mine accidents and a 44.4-percent rise in deaths from coal mine accidents in October. "The situation of production safety still allows for no optimism," said Li. (XNA, 22 Nov 06; full text of the rules: RMRB, 23 Nov 06)

Note: CPI (A), CPI(B) and CPI(C) are compiled based on the expenditure patterns of households in the relatively low, medium and relatively high expenditure ranges respectively. A Composite CPI is compiled based on the overall expenditure pattern of all the above households taken together. The CPI(C) was formerly known as the Hang Seng CPI and was compiled by the Hang Seng Bank since 1974.

Starting from the reference month of July 1999, the data collection and compilation work of the index have been taken up by the Census and Statistics Department and the index has been renamed as CPI(C).
