Please note:

Beijing has confirmed speculation that it will issue three licences for China's third-generation mobile service, which analysts expect to be granted by the end of the year after the completion o the industry restructuring. Without giving a timetable, the Ministry of Industry and Information, the National Development and Reform Commission and the Ministry of Finance released a joint statement saying the six telecommunications operators would be merged into three. The government would issue three 3G licences after the mergers to enable three operators – China Mobile, the world's biggest wireless carrier, China Telecommunications Group, the country's largest fixed-line operator, and China Unicom Group, smaller rival of China Mobile – to run fixed-line and mobile services, the statement said.

China Mobile will take over China Tietong (Railcom), which owns the nationwide railway-based telecommunications network, Xinhua reported on 24 May. It remains to be seen how China Mobile, which is absorbing Railcom to enter the slower-growing fixed-line business, will tackle impending competition. The government called for a merger of China Unicom and Netcom, the smaller of the country's two fixed-line carriers. (SCMP, 23, 26 May 08)

Under the revamp, three so-called full service operators will be created, with China Telecom Corp aquiring CDMA mobile-telephone operations from China Unicom, and Netcom and China Netcom Group Corp merging with Unicom's GSM business. China Mobile will acquire fixed-line business China Tietong. (SCMP, 27 May 08)

China Unicom, the smaller of the country's two mobile-telephone operators, will take over smaller fixed-line operator China Netcom Group Corp in a share swap valued up to HK$182.77 billion, the companies announced on 2 June. The transactions between the Hong Kong-listed companies are a direct result of the central government's attempt to restructure the telecommunications industry into three full-service operators. Netcom will be delisted after the merger and folded into Unicom.

(SCMP, 2, 3 Jun 08)

Hebei Province has formed a company that overtakes Baosteel Group Corp as China's biggest steelmaker. The local government on 11 June announced the establishment of Hebei Iron and Steel Group, which combines Tangshan Iron & Steel Group and Handan Iron & Steel Group, said a spokesman for Tangshan Steel's listed unit. Hebei Steel has annual production capacity of 31.75 million tonnes of the alloy, according to the combined output of Tangshan Steel (22.75m) and Handan Steel (9m) last year.

It is reported that Wang Yifang (see entry "Wang Yifang") will be appointed director of the newly founded group. Xinhua on 11 June quoted Hebei vice-governor Sun Ruibin as saying the government would strive to have Hebei Steel Group officially established by mid-July. (SCMP, 12 Jun 08;

International Agreements

BEIJING, June 26 (Xinhua) - The Standing Committee of the National People's Congress (NPC) approved the Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities at its plenary session in Beijing.

The approval of the international convention is helpful for protecting the rights of the handicapped group in China and is in conformity with the country's realities and needs, according to the NPC Foreign Affairs Committee.

In November 2001, the United Nations set up a special committee to draft the convention, and on December 13, 2006, the 61th UN General Assembly adopted the convention. On March 30, 2007, the Chinese ambassador to the United Nations signed the document on behalf of the Chinese government.

As of May 30, 129 nations and the European Union had signed the convention, while 27 nations had approved it.

The 50-clause convention is aimed! at ensuring that handicapped people enjoy the same rights and basic freedom as all other citizens.

Signing countries are asked to protect the rights of their handicapped population in economic, social and cultural fields.

China, with a population of 1.3 billion, has over 80 million people with disabilities. (XNA, 26 Jun 08)

PRC Laws and Regulations

Management Regulations on Slaughtering Live Pigs, promulgated by Decree 238 of the State Council of the People's Republic of China on December 19, 1997, and revised and adopted at the 201st executive meeting of the State Council on 19 December 2007. The regulation become effective as of 1 August 2008. (Decree No. 525 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 25 May 2008) (Full text: RMRB, 5 Jun 08) The regulations consist of 5 chapters with 36 articles.

Regulations on Wenchuan Post-Quake Reconstruction. The regulation became effective as of 9 June. (Decree No. 526 of the PRC State Council, signed by Wen Jiabao, Premier of the State Council, on 8 June 2008) (Full text: RMRB, 10 Jun 08) The regulations consist of 9 chapters with 80 articles.

Beijing, June 9 (Xinhua) - China promulgated the regulation on reconstruction after the May 12 Wenchuan earthquake. It was the first of its kind in the country, specially for a single massive quake, which led the reconstruction work into a legal orbit. ...

The regulation, which set guidelines for reconstruction, provided an important legal ground for the reconstruction work of various departments and quake-hit regions, said a spokesman of the Legal Affairs Office of the State Council, China's Cabinet.

He said the regulation was to ensure sound life, production, study and working conditions in quake-affected regions.

Covering nine chapters and 80 stipulations, it included the transitional settlement of quake-hit people, reconstruction planning, assessment, financing, policies, supervision and management and legal obligations.

It also put forward special requirements on earthquake-resistance levels of infrastructure construction in the quake-hit regions, including schools and hospitals.

According to the regulation, related departments should properly arrange the location of temporary housing and their supporting facilities and distribution of funds and materials.

It also made clear governments at all levels should regularly publicize the source, amount, distribution and use of relief capital and goods and receive public supervision.

Audit organs should strengthen checking over the reconstruction capital and goods and regularly make them open to the public. (XNA, 9 Jun 08)

BEIJING, May 29 (Xinhua) - Chinese authorities published a special statute on 29 May that provides for punishment of malpractice and fraud involving relief for the May 12 earthquake in southwest China.

The quake took at least 68,516 lives, injured 365,399 people, left another 19,350 missing and rendered more than 15 million people homeless.

The new regulation was jointly issued by the Central Commission for Discipline Inspection and the Ministry of Supervision.

The two departments ordered their local counterparts at various levels to make the anti-earthquake battle a primary task and to investigate and punish wrongdoing without hesitation.

The regulation prohibits embezzlement and fraud in the distribution of relief, the trading of relief goods, and other official malfeasance.

Institutions and individuals, leading officials in particular, who are found to have engaged in such activities will be severely punished by the Communist Party and the government.

Those who broke the law will have their cases referred to judicial departments for prosecution, it said.

As of 29 May, 37.3 billion yuan (about 5.33 billion US dollars) in cash and goods had been donated by domestic and overseas donors.

The National Audit Office (NAO) had said immediately after the May 12 earthquake that it would audit the use of cash and goods for quake disaster regions, to ensure resources were strictly managed and used in a proper and timely manner.

Auditors will investigate and deal with any attempt to hide, intercept or misappropriate donations, said the NAO. (XNA, 29 May 08)

BEIJING, May 29 (Xinhua) - China has published a statute, Methods for Punishing Violations of Regulations on Land Management, that replaces the "Provisional Methods for Punishing Violations of Regulations on Land Management" as of June 1.

The document was recently issued jointly by the Central Commission for Discipline Inspection (CCDI), the Ministry of Supervision (MOS), the Ministry of Human Resources and Social Security and the Ministry of Land Resources.

The new statute is the latest indication that the CCP CC and the State Council have always given priority to the issue of land use. It follows several important measures taken by the authorities to maintain order in land management.

The existing regulations have played an important role since they were enacted on March 2, 2000, but they need to be amended and improved to meet changing requirements, according to an official with the CCDI and the MOS.

China still faces a situation in which there are frequent instances of the illegal occupation of land, cultivated land in particular.

The official urged disciplinary inspection and supervision offices at different levels to seriously study and implement the new regulations and "strictly investigate and punish law-breaking and discipline-violating activities and protect cultivated land in a substantial way."

The 24-clause statute was based on the Land Management Law, the Law on Administrative Supervision, the Civil Servants Law, and the Provisions on the Punishment of Civil Servants in Administrative Departments, according to the official.

The government wants to preserve 1.8 billion mu (120 million hectares) of cultivated land, which is believed to be the base line to ensure food security for China's 1.3 billion people. (XNA, 29 May 08; full text: RMRB, 1 Jun 08)

BEIJING, June 5 (Xinhua) - Chinese President Hu Jintao, also General Secretary of the CCP CC and Chairman of the Central Military Commission, has approved regulations on the duty of soldier committees.

Soldier committees of the People's Liberation Army are responsible for carrying out grass-root activities, promoting military democracy and assisting Party branches.

In recent years, problems were seen in some soldier committees, such as incomplete organizations and laxness in fulfilling duties.

The regulations are aimed to ensure harmony and purity among soldiers' inner relationships and promote the army's scientific development.

Before drawing out the regulations, drafters have widely collected opinions. (XNA, 5 Jun 08; Xinhua 5 Jun 08, in BBC PF, 8 Jun 08)
