

Contributors

Andrés Malamud

Andrés Malamud is a research fellow at the Institute of Social Sciences of the University of Lisbon. He received a B.A. from the University of Buenos Aires and a Ph.D. in Political and Social Sciences from the European University Institute in Florence. He has been visiting researcher at the Max Planck Institute in Heidelberg and professor at several universities in Argentina, Brazil, Italy, Mexico, Portugal and Spain. His areas of interest include comparative regional integration, government institutions and parties, EU Studies and Latin American politics. His work has been published in such journals as Latin American Research Review, Cambridge Review of International Affairs, Journal of European Integration, Latin American Politics and Society, European Political Science, Desarrollo Económico, Contexto Internacional and Revista de Ciencia Política. He served four years in the executive committee of the Latin American Political Science Association (ALACIP).

Email: amalamud@ics.ul.pt

Angelo Segrillo

Angelo Segrillo, Ph.D. in History (Universidade Federal Fluminense, 1999), is professor of History at the University of Sao Paulo (USP). He holds a master's degree from the Moscow Pushkin Institute (Russia) and a B.A. from the Southwest Missouri State University (USA). He coordinates the Center for Asian Studies at the University of Sao Paulo. He is the author of several books on the political history of Russia, Eurasia and Brazil, among which Rússia e Brasil em Transformação: história dos partidos russos e brasileiros na democratização política (Editora 7Letras, 2005) and Os Russos (Editora Contexto, 2012). He has also written the chapter "A Questão da Democracia na Rússia Pós-soviética" in O Renascimento de uma Potência? A Rússia no Século XXI (IPEA).

Email: angelosegrillo@yahoo.com

Amâncio Jorge de Oliveira

Amâncio Jorge de Oliveira is Associate Professor at the Political Science Department of the University of São Paulo (USP), where he teaches the bachelor program in International Relations and the graduate program in Political Science. He is the Scientific Coordinator of CAENI (Center of Studies of International Negotiations/USP). He was Public Policy scholar of the Woodrow Wilson International Center for Scholars (Washington, 2001-2002).

Email: amancioj@usp.br

Denilson Bandeira Coêlho

Denilson Bandeira Coêlho is professor of Political Science at the University of Brasília. He is the co-editor of Diseño Institucional y Participación Política: Experiencias en el Brasil Contemporáneo (CLACSO, 2006) and of Coleção de Estudos Regionais sobre os Objetivos de Desenvolvimento do Milênio (PUC Minas, 2007). He recently published the article “Minimum Income in Brazil: A New Model of Innovation Diffusion” in Carole Pateman’s and Matthew Murray’s book, Basic Income Worldwide: Horizons of Reform (Palgrave MacMillan, 2012). His current research is a comparative study about the diffusion of social policies in Latin America. He coordinates the research project Mapping Participatory Budgeting in Brazil with Brian Wampler (Boise State University), Paolo Spada (Harvard University) and Mike Touchton (Boise State University).

Email: denilsonbc@unb.br

Felipe Nunes

Felipe Nunes, is a CAPES/Fulbright fellow and Ph.D. Candidate in Political Science at the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA). Since 2005, he is associate researcher at the Legislative Studies Center (CEL) at the Federal University of Minas Gerais (UFMG). His broad research interests are in comparative studies of political institutions, in the distributive politics of presidential systems in Latin America, and in research methods for social sciences. His dissertation research focuses on the distributive consequences of fiscal policy on party nationalization in Argentina, Brazil, Mexico and Venezuela.

Email: felipenunes@ucla.edu

Gabriel Cepaluni

Gabriel Cepaluni holds a Ph.D. in Political Science (University of São Paulo, 2010) and is assistant professor of International Relations at the São Paulo State University (Unesp). His most recent publications in English include the book Brazilian Foreign Policy in Changing Times (Lexington Books, 2012), co-authored by Tullo Vigevani, and the chapter “Brazil: Global Power-to-Be?” in Foreign Policy in Comparative Perspective (Sage/CQ Press, 2013), co-authored by Tullo Vigevani. His areas of research interest are international political economy, Brazilian foreign policy and experimental social science.

Email: gabi.cepal@gmail.com

Manoel Galdino

Manoel Galdino holds a Ph.D. in Political Science (University of São Paulo, 2011) and is associated researcher at CAENI-USP. His most recent publications include the articles “Faz alguma diferença corrigir as distorções de representação no Brasil? Um estudo sobre a interação entre a arena Eleitoral e a arena Legislativa no âmbito Federal” in Cadernos Adenauer (2011) and “Um anos após a crise: os impactos nas negociações internacionais” in Revista USP (2010). His areas of research interest are comparative politics, political methodology, bayesian statistics and international political economy.

Email: mcz.fea@gmail.com

Pio Penna Filho

Pio Penna Filho holds a Ph.D. in History of International Relations (University of Brasília, 2001). He is professor of international relations at the University of Brasília. He published four book, one of them co-authored with Alfredo da Mota Menezes. He also published 12 book chapters and 27 articles in peer reviewed journals. His research areas of interest are history and international relations, African history, Latin America history and the Brazilian Republic.

Email: piopenna@gmail.com

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

BPSR thanks the below listed colleagues for contributing as ad hoc reviewers in 2012:

Aaron Schneider	Lia Valls Pereira
Adriana Schor	Lorena Barberia
Alexsandro Eugerio Pereira	Lucio Rennó
Amancio Jorge de Oliveira	Manoel Galdino Pereira Neto
Amrita Narlikar	Manuel Alcantara Saez
Carlos Milani	Marcelo Medeiros
Clarissa Eckert Baeta Neves	Marlise Matos
Cristina Pecequilo	Marco Antonio Carvalho Teixeira
Edgar Fusaro	Marta Arretche
Ednaldo Aparecido Ribeiro	Matthew Taylor
Eduardo Viola	Megha Amrith
Elize Massard	Michelangelo Trigueiro
Emmanuel Nunes de Oliveira	Miriam Saraiva
Erica Simone A. Resende	Monica Herz
Ernani Carvalho	Mónica Salomón
Fabiano Santos	Natália Sátyro
Fernando Limongi	Nuno Monteiro
Flavio Rezende	Octávio Amorim
Geraldo Zahran	Ricardo Fabrino
Glenda Mezzaroba	Roberto Bouzas
Jairo Nicolau	Rogério Arantes
Janina Onuki	Rogério Barbosa
Jean Daudelin	Rogerio Schlegel
João Paulo Candia Veiga	Sean Burges
Kai Enno Lehmann	Simone Bohn
Kai Kenkel	Vanessa Elias de Oliveira
Kamilla Raquel Rizzi	Xavier Arbós Marin
Leticia Pinheiro	Yan Carreirão

CORRIGENDUM

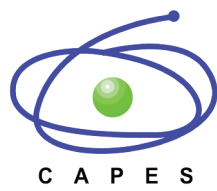

Volume 6, number 1, frontcover:

The title of Adam Przeworski's article is: Democracy, Redistribution and Equality

Volume 6, number 1, page 53:

The institutional affiliation of Francisca Guedes de Oliveira is the Catholic University of Porto, Portugal.

Sponsored by

Affiliated to the ABEC

Brazilian Political Science Review

Avenida Prof. Luciano Gualberto, 315/sala 2043
São Paulo - SP - CEP 05508-900
Tel.: (55) (11) 3091.3754

www.bpsr.org.br

Sponsored by:

Affiliated to the ABEC:

